

SARCOM's Has Winning Solutions for Small/Medium Businesses

The Challenge: Small and medium business needs have similar needs.

The Small and Medium business markets have backup and recovery needs that are just as critical to their environments as larger corporate customers.

Small to medium sized businesses typically do not have a managed approach to backup and recovery. As a result, when major changes occur to the computing environment these companies can't adjust and a potential window of failure is created.

The following are general conditions of medium size businesses that may benefit from one of SARCOM's storage solutions.

- Ten to twenty servers
- A terabyte or less of data
- Five or fewer locations
- Two or more internal tape drives

The Solution: SARCOM can address solutions for small and medium businesses.

The Enterprise Storage Group has put together a number of solutions that allow a flexible and scalable backup environment to be implemented for the medium sized business.
